Ike Warns Middle East

Stand Clear of Communism, President Says

U. S. Officials Hope Deadlock Over Israel Will Be Broken

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower warned the people of the Middle East today to stand clear of the "menace of international communism" lest it "smash all their hard-won accomplishments overnight."

Mr. Eisenhower reiterated in a special short wave broadcast beamed overseas that his Mideast resolution, now pending in Congress, is designed "to help bring stability" to the troubled areas.

"We must face the fact that, while we are trying to help build a world of freedom and justice among sovereign people," the President said, "the masters of international communism are working constantly to tear down this kind of world."

The President spoke as U. S. officials voiced hope that the Israeli deadlock may be broken.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban conferred for 3 hours and 10 minutes Sunday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the issue of withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba.

Apparently a new American approach was being worked out to the question of guaranteeing Israel against future Egyptian attacks. Israel also was said to have modified its demands for safe guards before pulling out of Egyptian territory.

Build Up Economies

After their talks, Dulles and Eban issued a joint statement expressing hope for a "solution... consistent with the principles of the United Nations."

The President's speech marked the 15th anniversary of the "Voice of America."

Eban scheduled a meeting in New York today with U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld. He apparently sought clarification of Hammarskjöld of Egypt's position if Israel withdraws her troops.

Saud Explains Ike Doctrine to Arab Leaders

Meets With Nasser, Jordan King and Syrian President

CAIRO (AP) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia undertook today to explain the Eisenhower Doctrine to the leaders of a frankly hostile Syria and a cool and doubting Egypt and Jordan.

He met with leaders of the three nations for talks overshadowed by Washington negotiations between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban. Outcome of the Dulles-Eban talks may determine the results here.

Saud sat down with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, President Shukri El-Kawatly of Syria and King Hussein of Jordan for the second round of their big four talks that were interrupted by Saud's state visit to Washington.

Saud flew here Sunday from conferences in Spain and North Africa. He met Sunday with King Idriss El Senussi of Libya. They issued a communique in which Saud "expressed his satisfaction with Eisenhower's understanding of Arab issues."

"The two kings found themselves in agreement in appreciation of Eisenhower's understanding of Arab issues," the communique said.

The declaration appeared to be a boost for the Eisenhower plan on the eve of the Arab big four meeting.

But it also underlined insistence on complete and unconditional Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian territory and the "necessity of putting an end to repeated Israeli aggressions on Arab nations."

Led by Sadist Gunmen Torture Meat Packer and Threaten Family for Hidden Money

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP) — Police today sought four gunmen, led by a "sadist," who turned the home of a local meat packer into a medieval-like torture chamber to learn the whereabouts of hidden money and jewelry.

The gang manacled Frank Rendulic, 40, to a cellar post with handcuffs and chains, then beat him with blackjacks and burned him with a heated meat hook to make him tell where his money was hidden.

Rendulic finally gave in, three hours after the torture started, when the gang threatened to burn out the eyes of his four children with a heated poker. Earlier, a similar eye-gouging threat failed to break Rendulic's silence.

Get $10,000 Loot. The robbers got away with about $5,000 in cash and $5,000 worth of jewelry. They left Rendulic's back, legs and face a mass of bruises. His right eye was swollen shut.

Rendulic's terrified wife, Josephine, 39, and the couple's two sons and two daughters were left bound and gagged in an upstairs bedroom but were not harmed otherwise. Mrs. Rendulic freed herself after the men left and called police.

Rendulic, who operates a slaughterhouse behind his home, said he and his wife were watching television Saturday night when their doorbell rang. He answered it and four men pushed their way in.

"Three had socks pulled over their faces and the fourth had a white mask. Each one had a gun," Rendulic said. "I thought right away it was some of my friends playing a gag."

Three of the men forced him into the cellar while the fourth ordered his wife upstairs where their two sons, Fred, 5, and Frank, 8, were in bed.

The couple's daughters, Joan, 13, and Janet, 11, returned shortly from a skating rink and also were taken to the bedroom.

In the cellar, the three gunmen handcuffed Rendulic's arms around a steel post and chained his legs. Then they took turns beating him with blackjacks and singeing his skin with a heated meat hook.

Rosiclare Votes To Fluoridate Water Supply

ROSICLARE, Ill. (AP) — A town which is sitting above millions of tons of fluorospar has voted to fluoridate its water supply.

The fluoridation process will be provided and installed at no cost to the town of Rosiclare by the Minerva Oil Company's Fluorspar Division which operates in the Rosiclare area.

Mining companies in the Hardin County area will supply the needed acid grade fluorospar without cost to the city for the next five years.

The council action, aimed at curbing tooth decay in children, calls for added fluoride content in its water supply. It will be increased to one part of fluoride salt to one million parts of water.

In the Rosiclare process, acid grade fluorospar which is produced all around the town will be introduced into the water instead of costly fluorine compound which would have to be imported.

Fluorspar is almost insoluble in water, but when mixed with alum and stirred, becomes soluble. This principle will be used at Rosiclare.

A similar process has been in operation at Bel Air, Md., since July, 1956.

Study Under Way For Conservation Lake in County

State Senator Glen O. Jones today announced that engineering studies are now being made to determine the feasibility of a Department of Conservation lake in Saline county.

The Department of Conservation has retained the Hillsboro, Ill., engineering firm, Hurst-Rosche, to make a study of possible lake sites in Saline county and this firm has sent one of its staff, David Rowe, into the county.

The firm will make an engineering report to the state on the feasibility of a lake and this report is expected in six to eight weeks.

The Hillsboro firm is making the same type of study in other southern Illinois counties.

Town Meeting Called to Plan New Building

Fire Believed Caused by Gas Explosion

A town that has learned to do things for itself through its "Operation Bootstrap" program is already working on plans for a new art center to replace one that was destroyed Sunday by fire.

Citizens at Eldorado were discussing a new building even before embers of the one-story frame building had cooled.

Fire believed to have been caused by a gas explosion razed the building which was used for rehabilitation work and art classes. Damage was tentatively estimated at about $20,000.

A town meeting was called within two hours after the blaze. An art center disaster fund committee, another committee to design a new building and a work group to clear the debris were formed.

Arch Baker, who provided the art center building rent free, donated six city lots to the group as the site of a new art center.

H. G. Pack, a former coal miner who lost a leg and suffered a broken back in a coal mine accident, was named chairman of the disaster fund. He has been active in art center work since it was founded more than a year ago, donating about 25 hours of his time a week.

"The center meant so much to so many people. We didn't expect to make any professional painters, but we did expect to rehabilitate some people," said Mrs. Serma Jones, an instructor at the center.

Some one hundred persons from towns as far away as Marion and Carmi attended classes at the center. Southern Illinois University at Carbondale co-operated in the project and assisted Eldorado in its community development program.

Some 40 pieces of pottery were being fired in a kiln at the time of the blaze. They came out of the fire with a perfect finish.

Two kilns sent down from Morton, Ill., as part of a plan to start making pottery commercially at the center had not yet been uncrated and escaped damage.

John Bromm, ceramics instructor, left the Art Center around 9 a. m. Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Counts after checking a curing kiln.

Bromm said he had been having trouble with gas pressure, but that the gas, which is supplied from oil wells, had been shut off before the group left the building.

Small boys playing near the building reported that around 10 a. m. they heard an explosion inside the structure and that the building was in flames almost immediately.

These boys called the Eldorado fire department and firemen fought the blaze until noon.

Insurance covered the building only.

Golconda Woman Dies Just Before 103rd Birthday

GOLCONDA, Ill. — Pope county's oldest resident, Mrs. Eva Hanson, 102, died in a hospital late Saturday after a long illness.

Had she lived another 24 hours she would have attained the age of 103 as Sunday was her birthday.

When Mrs. Hanson's condition became critical a search was launched for a niece, believed to be her only survivor. The niece is said to reside in the Tri-State, however none of Mrs. Hanson's friends are aware of the name.

Funeral services were held today at 2 p. m. in Buchanan funeral home. The Rev. Leroy Bowles officiated and burial was in Odd Fellow cemetery.

Back On Course Again

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The healing of the breach had to come. The United States could not long deal at arm's length with two such fundamental allies as Britain and France.

Consequently it was almost inevitable that President Eisenhower would one day invite British and French leaders here, or see them on their own suggestion.

The coming talks with French Premier Guy Mollet in late February and Prime Minister Macmillan in late March will historically mark the turning point back toward more cordial relations among the Big Three. Those ties were disrupted, of course, when our friends abroad attacked Egypt without consulting us.

Many pressing problems have piled up in the painful interlude since the breach was made. They include not only the Middle East crisis itself but the whole state of the West's position opposite the Communist world. Fears have grown of a decline in both our strength and our resolve.

No meeting should be more profitable in 1957.

Did They Study Returns?

When a group of right-wing Republicans assembled recently in Chicago, they set as their task the election of like-minded men to Congress in 1958 and 1960.

America more than most nations is a place of widely diverse viewpoints. It is both natural and fitting that these should find expression in our political life.
Hence no one, no matter what his views, should rightly object to forceful efforts to advance a particular political cause.

The visitors to Chicago struck some attitudes, however, that perhaps put in question how well they read the national election results in 1952 and 1956.

Those results, in the view of most election analysts, were above all personal endorsements of President Eisenhower. They represented rebuffs—in considerable measure—to both major parties as such.

The right wingers in Chicago seemed to regard Mr. Eisenhower as some sort of interloper, a "politician temporarily in office," who is preventing real Republicanism from asserting itself.

Cost of Supports

Lots of times we hear figures on the staggering total cost of the government's farm price support program.

It is not all dead loss, since the government of course in many cases realizes considerable return from the disposal of surpluses.
But there is loss. In recent times it has been heavy.

The Commodity Credit Corporation, which manages the support program, says that in the past four years—at a time of largely sagging farm prices—the government has lost $2,894,000,000.

That compares with $1,111,000, 000 lost in the 20 years before that —a period of generally rising farm prices stimulated by war and early postwar demand.

This healthy chunk of four billion dollars, a contribution of American taxpayers to the well-being of this nation's farmers, is in fact not the full loss sustained from support operations.

Not included are the costs of farmers' direct subsidy payments, of export subsidies on crops sold abroad at reduced prices, and on purchase and disposal of surpluses by agencies other than the C. C. C.

It's quite a load to bear. And the odd thing is that the very farmers who benefit give back some of their gains in the form of the taxes needed to foot the bill.
The farmers no less than the rest of us should look forward to

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.

(Written for NEA Service)

What are "little white lies"?
Generally they are half-truths used to avoid trouble. The "trouble" may be potentially for the teller of the "little white lies" or it may be potentially for the one who hears.

"Worry birds" imagine the worst about any situation. They interpret the bold truth in a catastrophic sense. They imagine that any delay is caused by some devastation. They dream up the worst interpretation of anything.
These people come to ask for half-truth because they cannot be calm with simple fact.

We cannot justify untruth in any religious sense, but neither can we justify stimulating the imagination of people who know no peace of mind in themselves or in their relationships with others. Jesus told parable rather than giving cold statements to those who wished to trap Him with mere words.

The doodlebug also is known as the ant-lion.

Washington. Adenauer will come in late May to offset the political advantage given his main election rival, Erich Ollenhauer, who has just been in the U. S. . . . The Politburo has decided that East Germany is now the most dangerous threat to the unity of the Communist empire—even more so than Hungary. At a secret meeting decided concessions must be made to the East Germans to keep them from exploding in a revolt far bloodier than in Hungary.

More crack Soviet army divisions will be sent to the east zone . . .
Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is tired of his job at the U. N. and has asked the White House to find him another. Lodge has his eye on the Defense Department as successor to Secretary Wilson.

But like has another possibility in mind — General Gruenther, the man he wants to build up eventually for the White House . . .
Hungarian Reds are frantically trying to figure out what to do about the brave Hungarian children who were supposed to be Communist-indoctrinated, but who fought bitterly against Soviet tanks despite that indoctrination. Schoolteachers have been summoned to special seminars to figure out how to deal with the "counter-revolutionary behavior" of children. The Reds may end up by taking them away from their parents and letting the state raise them.

Thousands Flee California and Oregon Floods

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Several thousand persons in Oregon and California fled their homes today as rivers, fed by a weekend of torrential rains and melted snow, began flooding lowlands in both states.

The rains were borne over the Far West by a high-level stream of warm air that incidentally helped commercial airliners set new records for flights between the West Coast and Hawaii.

The weatherman said the rains would diminish today but he warned a new storm was on its way. It was due over northern California Tuesday.

The area in the worst danger appeared to be eastern Oregon. Massachusetts was the first state in the Union to pass an adoption law.

Miss Robin Ann Wathen, John Stanley Thompson Exchange Vows At Bankston

Mr. and Mrs. John Stanley Thompson (Foster Studio Photo)

Miss Robin Ann Wathen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Wathen of Harrisburg RFD 1, became the bride of John Stanley Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, also of Harrisburg RFD 1, in a lovely double ring ceremony which took place Saturday, Feb. 16, at eight o'clock in the evening.

Rev. Paul Dann officiated at the service which was held at the Bankston Fork Baptist church.

The couple exchanged vows before a white altar decorated with candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and centered with a white arch entwined with greenery.

A white runner was placed down the aisle where the bride walked. Given in marriage by her father, she chose a street length dress of white chiffon over satin and net designed with a cummerbund of chiffon folds. Her lace bolero featured long pointed sleeves and a rounded collar. She wore a veil of illusion secured to a pearl tiara and carried three white gardenias with long streamers on a white Bible.

Miss Sally Schwartz, close friend of the bride, wore a sleeveless streetlength dress of crepe and sat in fashioned on princess lines with a scoop neckline. She also wore short blue gloves, a small blue hat and a corsage of pink carnations. Gale Travelstead of 609 East Poplar, was best man to the bridegroom.

Ushers were James L. Thompson and Charles Abney. Mrs. Gale Travelstead, soloist, accompanied the bride.

Miss Linda Schwartz, sang "Always," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Schwartz played "Melody of Love."

Mrs. Wathen chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue knit suit with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of blue silk with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the basement of the church. Hostesses were Miss LaNell Gwin, Miss Wanda Smith, Miss Jane Hughe, and Mrs. Shirley Thomas.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1948 and is a repair and maintenance man for the D-X Oil Co. The bride is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1955 and was formerly employed as secretary to Attorney Scerial Thompson.

The bride and groom are now at home in Benton following a wedding trip through Wisconsin.

"A little more to the left!"

THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG in the Civil War started on July 1, 1863.

More and more it becomes evi-dent Gov. William G. Stratton may be compelled to raise more money with which to increase salaries of state police and state employes. State agency heads tell the same story as they make their appear-ances one after the other before the State Budgetary Commission, to say that salaries must be boost-ed if they are to retain workers.

Whether salaries are to be in-creased is up to the Legislature regardless of how department heads feel. Chief State Highway Engineer Ralph R. Bartelsmeyer, Springfield, told the commission he needs money to fill 500 vacan-cies for technical people, and John Fry, Urbana, head of the State Geological Survey, says he is los-ing low-paid skilled workers to pri-vate industry.

Another to urge increases was State School Superintendent Ver-non L. Nickell, Champaign, who said many of his photographers and clerks are getting only $200 a month. Sen. William J. Connors, D., Chicago, commented it is "a disgraceful situation why, our Chi-cago garbage men get $19.80 a day." He suggested a lottery, such as is now in operation in Great Britain, to raise money.

Most commonly mentioned as a means of raising funds to pay high-er salaries and meet other obliga-tions is an additional one-half cent state sales tax to bring it to 3c. Largest budget so far presented to the budgetary commission is that of the State Highways Divi-sion. It calls for a biennial ex-penditure of $654,893,010, an all time high.

By Frank Gruber

THE STORY: After the close of the Civil War, two Union Cavalrymen capture $25,000 in Confederate gold that General Shelby was taking with him into Mexico. The soldiers, Chad Morgan and Joe Jagger, take the money and dollars. Two years later they plan to use it "to make a million visit the St. Louis offices of a railroad building across Kansas. Jagger's sister Helen is working in the office."

• • •

The door to a private office opened and a heavy-set man in a Prince Albert with a florid vest appeared. "Miss Jagger," he said, "if you'll come in . . ."

"Oh, Mr. Foss," exclaimed Helen Jagger. "This is my brother Joseph, and his partner, Mr. Morgan. You have an appointment with them."

For a moment Nathan Foss's face was blank. Then he grimaced. "Oh, yes, the Texas-cattle scheme."

"I'm the man you've been waiting for, Mr. Foss," declared Joe Jagger. "The man who's going to save your railroad for you. Once you hear my proposition, you'll cancel every other appointment you've got this week."

Foss fixed Jagger with a dour look. "Frankly, Mr.—ah—Jagger, I'm in no mood for levity."

"Joe and his partner," Helen Jagger said clearly, "have $25,000 in gold!"

A strange new light came into Nathan Foss's eyes. "Come in, Mr. Jagger, come in. And you, too, Mr.—"

"Morgan."

The two ex-cavalrymen followed Nathan Foss into his private office, a fine paneled room that had impressed many a prospective investor in railroad shares.

Foss seated himself behind a huge desk, waited until his visitors had found chairs, then formed an inverted V of his hands by placing the thumbs and finger tips together.

"Gentlemen," he began, "railroad stocks today are the soundest of all investments. I can promise you, nay, I can virtually guarantee you, a profit of 10 per cent on your money—"

"Whoa, wait a minute!" interrupted Joe Jagger. "I'll guarantee you 100 per cent—and more, Mr. Foss!" A spot of red appeared on each of Nathan Foss's cheeks. It grew as Joe Jagger hurried on. "You've got 40 miles of track laid and you've had to shut down work until you can raise some more money. Oh, you'll probably be able to build a few more miles of track. But what's the use? There's nothing past Lawrence, nothing but prairie dogs. And they won't be shipping any freight."

"Neither will you," retorted the railroad man. "This hair-brained scheme your sister's told me about—"

"It's no scheme, Mr. Foss. We've got the plan all worked out and we've got the money for it. We're going to build a town out there, on your railroad. This town's going to have stores, a hotel, stockyards—"

"Stockyards!" snorted Foss. "Stockyards on the prairie . . .!"

"Stockyards," repeated Jagger firmly, "built with our money! It won't cost you a cent. All we want in return—"

"You just said it wouldn't cost me a penny!"

"It won't cost you much. I want your crew to build me a half mile of siding to facilitate the loading of the cattle onto the stock cars."

"That's nothing?" snapped Foss. "A half a mile of track costs $20,000."

"It'll be the most important investment of your life."

"All right, suppose I said I'd build the siding . . . what else do you want?"

"Five dollars for every carload of cattle loaded at my loading pens, my stockyards . . ."

"Five dollars of nothing is still nothing. What else?"

"Land. Some of the drovers may want to fatten up their cattle before selling to the buyers."

"Land," said Foss, "is the one thing we have. Our grant from the government calls for every other section on both sides of the track—"

"From Kansas City to Colorado," said Jagger. "The land isn't worth 10 cents an acre."

"All right, you can have 1,000 acres . . . 2,000." Foss paused. "The moment you've built your stockyards and—and hotel!"

Jagger got up, crossed to the desk, picked up a pen, and dipped it into a well of ink. "Put it in writing."

Foss scowled, hesitated, then took the pen. . . .

the ground stretched out for 50 miles beyond the end of the track. Joe Jagger and Chad Morgan followed the stakes to their end and came upon a settlement that bore the name of Prairie Dog.

The place consisted of a sod-covered store that was also the horse relay station for the once-a-month stage line. Some dozen sod shacks were scattered about the landscape.

A man named Artie Puffpuff crawled out of one of the sod shacks. He was incredibly dirty and lice crawled over the patches of skin that showed through the rents in his shirt.

"Mr. Puffpuff," said Jagger, "we'll lay our cards on the table . . ."

Puffpuff blinked red eyelids. "What cards?"

Jagger made a gesture of dismissal. "You've squatted on a section of land. You've put out some boundary sticks and you may even have some claim to the land. Squatter's rights, perhaps. Whatever they are, I want to buy them from you."

"You want to pay money for my —my homestead?"

Morgan drew a quart bottle of whisky from his saddlebags. He held it so Puffpuff could get a square look at it. Puffpuff looked—and couldn't return his eyes to Jagger.

"You got hard money on you, Bub?" he whined.

Jagger took a $20 gold piece from his pocket and tossed it into the dust at Puffpuff's feet. "Is that hard enough for you?"

Puffpuff's eyes found the gold in the dirt. He picked it up and then his eyes went again to the bottle of whisky.

"This is valuable property," he whined.

Morgan took a second bottle of whisky from his saddlebags. "You can squat on a brand-new piece of land, Puffpuff."

"Twenty dollars and two quarts of whisky," snapped Jagger. He took a piece of paper and a pencil from his pocket and tossed it to Puffpuff. "Sign!"

Puffpuff was busy all of that day and the next, transferring the contents of the two bottles of whisky to his stomach, so he was in no condition to do any work, but Jagger and Morgan found another squatter who was glad to earn five dollars.

He followed Morgan and Jagger around and drove a stake into the ground wherever he was told.

"This'll be the hotel," declared Jagger, after pacing off the ground. "It's got to be near the depot and stockyards, but it should face Main Street. Mmm, we'll make the street good and wide."

"One street enough?" asked Morgan cheerfully.

"One main street," replied Jagger. "Of course we'll need cross streets. Let's see now, we're going to need lots for business places. We'll figure it out in units of 20 feet. Man needs a bigger place he'll have to buy two 20-foot lots."

They worked their way down "Main Street," then crossed the stakes put out by the surveyors of the railroad and paced off the distances for the stockyards and loading pens, the railroad siding.

Finally, when the area looked like a field of growing sticks, Jagger and Morgan paused to rest near a prairie-dog mound where a prairie dog sat outside his hole watching them.

Jagger frowned at the animal. "Prairie Dog," he said, shaking his head. "That's no good for a town name."

Morgan picked up a chunk of smooth, curved wood. "Here's what's left of an old Indian bow. Might suggest a name . . . Busted Bow, Broken Bow—"

"Not bad," said Jagger, "for a small town, but we want something with more size."

"That's a Pawnee bow," volunteered the squatter.

"Pawnee!" exclaimed Jagger. "It's colorful. That's it . . . Pawnee City."

The tail end of a norther was still sweeping across the flat Texas country and Chad Morgan, hunched over his saddle pommel, hands thrust into his pockets, was cursing the Texan who had told him that there was a village only 18 miles away. He had traveled at least 25.

Then he saw the man ahead of him. Morgan pressed his right elbow to his side. He felt the reassuring hardness of his Navy gun and then knelt his horse into a trot.

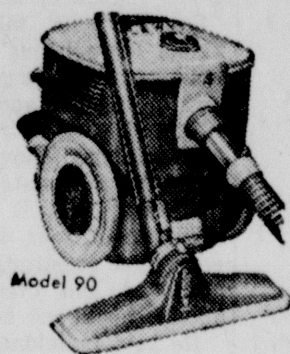

Morgan eased his horse so it jogged beside the other one. "It's a bad day to be out," he said.

The man looked sideways at Morgan, but merely grunted a reply. He was unshaven and his lean features were weathered and hard. Morgan caught a mere glint of his slitted eyes and knew that the man was a hard case.

Mother and Baby Daughter, Unable to Raise Bond, Use Jail as Boarding House

OTTUMWA, Iowa — Wapello County Sheriff Cliff Riley turned over to welfare authorities today the case of Mrs. Violet Adams and her 3-week-old daughter who have used the county jail as a boarding house.

Mrs. Adams, the mother of eight children, was jailed last week because she couldn't raise bond on a bad check charge.

But she refused to be separated from her daughter and allow the baby to be put in a foster home so Riley, who made it plain he didn't like having them sent to jail, put them up in the jail's hospital ward.

Mrs. Adams, 33, pleaded innocent to the bad check charges Sunday, and was released on her promise that she would remain for trial. She left the baby at the jail in the care of Mrs. Riley and went in search of place to stay.

But she returned to the jail when her search failed and Riley, still sympathetic to her situation, extended her freedom to live in the jail's spotlessly clean hospital ward, with a private bath.

Six of Mrs. Adams' children already are in foster homes and a seventh is staying with a sister in Augusta, Ga. Her husband, Ira, 38, also is in jail on a bad check arrest and will face charges with Mrs. Adams for child neglect next Saturday.

Teddy Nadler Increases TV Show Winnings

NEW YORK — Teddy Nadler, a $70-a-week stock clerk from St. Louis who has challenged the world to beat his mind's stock of facts, ran his stock of television quiz show winnings up to $45,000 Sunday night.

Nadler answered questions on modern European history, the Civil War, classical music and baseball to beat a professor and the two more professors and a baseball expert on the CBS program "The $64,000 Challenge."

He won $32,000 from Prof. Harry T. Moore of Babson Institute when he named six representative and three monarchs who attended the 1815 Congress of Vienna while Moore failed to identify the papal minister to the congress.

Nadler tied.

—Prof. Richard Gore of Wooster College for $8,000 by naming the keys of Beethoven's first eight symphonies.

—Baseball expert and restaurateur Toots Shor for $4,000 by naming three teams defeated by the New York Yankees in four straight games in the World Series.

—Prof. Austin Raney of the University of Illinois by matching Civil War answers for $1,000.

He will compete next week against the contestants he tied.

10 Pupils Hurt When Truck Hits Rear of School Bus

NEW WINCHESTER, Ind. — Ten pupils were injured today when a big truck smashed into the rear of a New Winchester school bus one-half mile west of here on U. S. 36.

State police said the bus driver, William Smith, 43, Coatesville, was slowing the bus to make a pickup. The truck driver, William A. Anderson, 50, Lincoln, Ill., saw the signals, but his brakes failed, he said.

Anderson could not swerve his truck to the left because of oncoming traffic and children waiting for the bus.

State police said "most" of the injured were treated and released.

Pilot Buzzes Home to Warn Family of Fire

LOCUST GROVE, Ga. — Elbert and Betty Seabolt offered an open letter of gratitude today to an unidentified pilot who risked his life to awaken them by buzzing their blazing farm home.

The Seabolts, both 24, their three-month-old son Joseph, and Mrs. Seabolt's father, W. C. Arendale, fled in the nick of time after the plane twice roared low over the four-room house. They said that when the plane awakened them they found the roof ablaze. The house was destroyed.

"Dear Aviator," their letter began. "We want to tell you that your thoughtfulness and daring saved the lives of our whole family Friday night."

"Our loss was tragedy enough for a young couple just getting started but we never would have even had a chance if you hadn't flown low and waked us up. Thank the Lord there are people like you."

Sincerely, Elbert and Betty Seabolt.

Seabolt, bread company employee and part-time farmer, said he and his wife "tried everything we know of to find out who the pilot was," but no one could give them any help.

Pope Approves Anesthetics

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius XII, in a 5,000-word address Sunday to doctors throughout the world, gave broad approval to the use of anesthetics even when their use may shorten the life of a dying person.

On the thorny topic of whether drugs could be used to ease pain in a dying person "even if one foresees that the use of drugs will shorten life," the Pope stressed that all forms of euthanasia—"mercy killings"—are unlawful.

"But if the dying man has fulfilled his duties and received the last sacraments," the Pope said, "if medical reasons clearly suggest the use of anesthetics, in determining the dose, the permitted amount is not exceeded, if the intensity and duration of the treatment is carefully reckoned and the patient consents to it, then there is no objection: The use of anesthetics is morally permissible."

"If there exists no direct causal link either through the will of interested parties or by the nature of things, between the induced unconsciousness and the shortening of life... the action is lawful."

Ex-Employees of Defunct Magazines Ask Severance Pay

NEW YORK — Former employees of the now defunct Collier's and Woman's Home Companion magazines have launched a suit against the Crowell-Collier Corp. for one million dollars in severance pay for 2,300 discharged employees.

The employees' committee is seeking severance pay for the discharged employees equal to severance pay given those dismissed when the Crowell-Collier American magazine was suspended last year.

Collier's and the Woman's Home Companion were discontinued shortly before Christmas.

Stratton to Press for New Constitution

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton has said he will press hard for a constitutional convention as the "only real solution" to the problems of a "growing state."

Stratton first recommended the writing of a new state constitution in his inaugural address.

Saturday he told the Illinois Young Republicans' convention he would actively urge the Legislature to approve and submit to the voters in 1958 a resolution for a constitutional convention to rewrite the 1870 state charter.

Stratton said it would take a minimum of four or five years to get a new constitution written and approved and that the start of action should not be delayed.

He said individual constitutional changes he has recommended, such as annual legislative sessions and appointment, rather than election, of the auditor and treasurer, could help modernize the state government.

But he said the "only real solution" would be a new constitution.

William Rentschler, Lake Forest, was elected president of the Young GOP. Other officers elected included Robert Meyers, Winnetka, chairman of the board; Eleanor Bonde, Wheaton, secretary; James Rhind, Chicago, national junior committeeman, and Lydia Smith, Randolph County, national junior committeewoman.

House Committee Chairman Says Georgia Move Has No Chance

By United Press

Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee said today Georgia's move to impeach six Supreme Court justices has "no chance" of winning Congress' approval.

The New York Democrat said during a hearing on civil rights legislation that Georgia's legislature went "too far" in seeking the impeachment. The action, he said,

"only exacerbates the civil rights situation."

Any impeachment action would have to go through Celler's committee.

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), testifying against the civil rights bills, agreed with Celler that there is no likelihood that Congress will remove the justices. He declined to say whether he would sponsor an impeachment resolution.

Other congressional news:

Schools: School officials from Georgia told a House Education subcommittee they do not want any federal money for their schools. George P. Whitman, chairman of the State Board of Education, said acceptance of federal aid could lead to "administrative" command from federal authorities to end racial segregation.

Doctrine: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson urged his colleagues to wind up debate on President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine and start voting. Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D-Ore.) said he sees no need for urgency and served notice he will block any request for unanimous consent to set a time limit on debate.

Contempt: The Senate Judiciary Committee recommended a contempt citation against Ludwig Rajchmann, Polish delegate to the United Nations Children's Education Fund. Rajchmann refused to honor a subpoena from the internal security subcommittee and left the United States Thursday.

Ex-Con Sought in Slaying Added to FBI Wanted List

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The FBI today added the name of George Edward Cole, an ex-convict sought in the "cold-blooded slaying" of a San Francisco policeman, to its list of 10 most wanted fugitives. The FBI warned that Cole is armed with a powerful 357 Magnum pistol and is extremely dangerous. He has said he would shoot any officer who tried to capture him.

"Violent crime is nothing new to this 29-year-old gunman," the FBI said. Cole's crime career began when he went AWOL from the Army in 1945. He served a sentence for first degree robbery at San Quentin prison from 1948 to 1951.

Cole is wanted in connection with the killing of an off-duty police officer in a tavern in San Francisco's "Tenderloin" district on Dec. 30, 1956.

Illinois State Fair Manager Is Dismissed

SPRINGFIELD — State Fair General Manager Strother G. Jones confirmed today he has been "requested to leave" his post by State Agriculture Director Stillman J. Stanard.

Jones told United Press "intrigue and jealousy" were behind his firing.

He said he had tried to discuss his dismissal with Gov. William G. Stratton, but that the governor's secretary reported Stratton was "busy."

Jones said he was informed by Stanard last Thursday that "there was no place for me" and a "change would be made."

Jones said he had no idea whom the governor would appoint to succeed him.

Neff Addresses Men's Bible Class at Presbyterian Church; Officers Elected

Sunday evening 52 men attended the annual organization meeting of the Harry Barter Men's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church. A buffet dinner was served in the lower rooms of the church at 7 o'clock.

After a brief business meeting at which the retiring officers, O. D. Rice, president, Louis Gall, vice-president, Verner Joyner, secretary-treasurer, and Lowell Wise, sergeant-at-arms, presided, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: Bluford Hetherington, president, Byron Moore, vice-president, John Jarrel, secretary-treasurer and Omer Owens, sergeant-at-arms.

Committees in charge of preparations for the meeting were: Program: R. C. Davenport Jr., Russell Malan, Ernie Boyd, and Bluford Hetherington; refreshment: John Stump, Rollie Moore, Earl Morse and Elvie Gidcomb; attendance: Dale Sullivan, Byron Moore and Jack Smith.

R. C. Davenport Jr. presented Larry Neff, Shawnee Forest Supervisor, who gave an interesting and informative talk, illustrated by charts and graphs, emphasizing the importance of the overall forestry program to the people of the United States.

Mr. Neff pointed out that we must find ways for: 1. Better utilization of the present wood supply; 2. Developing means of utilization of low quality wood; 3. Reducing losses; 4. Increasing stocking on 40 per cent of forest lands; 5. Planting up to 52 million acres that need planting; 6. Improving forest management on 4½ million acres now under control of small land owners who do not realize the importance of the small tracts of forest land.

Otherwise, he pointed out, that before the year 2000 the demand for wood products would far exceed the harvest necessary to provide those products.

Mr. Neff stated that in the Shawnee Forest an estimated 2000 acres of Shoreleaf pine will be ready with in the next year or two to be thinned, and that a continuing and expanding program of this nature can be expected, which will be of great benefit to this area in the future.

Mitchell Asks Minimum Pay for More Workers

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell proposed today that the federal minimum wage law be broadened to cover some 2.5 million additional workers.

A Senate Labor subcommittee called Mitchell to give the administration's first concrete proposals on extending the Minimum Wage Act.

Mitchell's proposals fell far short of organized labor's demands that 10 million additional workers be blanketed in under the act.

The bulk of the workers—2 million—to be brought in under Mitchell's proposal are employed in the retail trades profession. Coverage of these workers long has been cherished by labor.

However, Mitchell did not include the coverage of two other groups of workers sought by the AFL-CIO. These were 1.4 million agricultural workers and another 1.4 million outside salesmen.

The labor secretary also ruled out extending the $1 hourly wage floor to workers employed in small, local businesses.

Wildcats Whip Eagles Fourth Time, 93 to 74

Only One Game Left For Carrier Mills Before Tournament

The Carrier Mills Wildcats, who will be guests of the Carrier Mills Lions club at the annual basketball banquet this evening, feasted on the Eldorado Eagles Saturday night to the tune of 93-74.

The game was played at Carrier Mills and marked the fourth victory of the year for Carrier Mills over the Eldorado Eagles. The two clubs possibly will meet again in the semifinals of the regional tournament at Norris City next week.

Carrier Mills, with one game remaining on its schedule, at Metropolis Friday, has a record of 22 victories and one defeat. Eldorado's regular schedule is completed, the Eagles winning 9 and losing 15.

Eldorado scored first on a drive in shot by Willis for the only lead the Eagles held during the game, and only once was the score tied, at 4-4 in the early stages.

Control Boards

The Cats, using their height to control the rebounding at both ends of the floor, led at the end of every quarter and piled up a big lead in the third frame by scoring 30 points while holding the Eagles to 17.

Four Carrier Mills players hit in double figures with Jack Cowger, playing his first full game in weeks while nursing an ankle sprain, enjoyed his best night of the season, scoring 30 points. He was perfect at the free throw line, hitting a dozen in as many efforts.

And the shooting of Harold Fitts was just short of sensational. Fitts, a guard, was hitting long jump shots from every angle. His first three tries were successful and for the night he had 11 fielders and three free tosses to run his total to 25. Rollins and Rouse had 14 each.

The preliminary game was also won by Carrier Mills, 72-41.

Locals Wind Up Season With 5th Straight Win; Hassett Sprains Ankle

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs wound up their regular basketball season Saturday night at Davenport gym by beating Johnston City, 75 to 57, for their fifth consecutive win but the victory was a costly one.

Midway in the second period Ray Hassett was helped from the floor after he suffered a sprained ankle.

Last year, when Hassett sprained the other ankle, he was out of action for four weeks.

The locals go into tournament play next week at Norris City and it would be a miracle if Hassett were in good shape for the meet.

Dotson Uses Subs

Harrisburg, like it did the first time the two teams met, had an easy time with the Indians in the season finale. By using a pressing and fast-breaking style of play that delighted the partisan fans, Coach John Dotson's outfit ran up a 23-10 lead the first quarter and made it 51-23 at halftime, as they held the Indians to four field goals the first half.

But Dotson started pouring in substitutes midway in the second period when the count was 35-15, and all 15 men on the squad saw lots of action. Before tournament time Dotson will have to pare his squad to 10.

Harrisburg shot exactly the same percentage the team shot the night before in beating Mt. Vernon, connecting 28 times from the field in 52 attempts for 54 per cent. Bill Henshaw and Ben Fulkerson were the big scorers, Johnston City, which couldn't start connecting until late in the game, hit on 12 out of 40 shots for an even 30 per cent.

The Indians made the amazing number of 33 free throws, which accounted for a respectable score at the end of the game. They

District Play Opens Tonight

By United Press

The 1957 race for the state high school basketball championship gets under way officially tonight with the start of district tournament play at Farmersville, Tremont and Gladstone.

Other district tournaments for the smaller schools will start Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with 42 district champions being crowned Friday night.

Only one district winner in all state tournament history, Hebron in 1952, has gone on to win the state championship.

Bardolph, which has hit the 100 point mark a couple of times this season and has been defeated only twice, is the outstanding team in the districts starting play tonight. Bardolph is entered at Gladstone.

Carbondale Attucks, which was rated among the top 15 teams in the state early in the season and is outstanding among teams assigned to districts, opens in its own district Wednesday.

A total of 680 teams are entered in this year's tournament. The bigger schools will swing into action next week in 60 regional tournaments.

A week later, March 11, the 15 downstate sectionals will start.

The 15 sectional champions and the Chicago Public League champion will meet in the first round of the state tournament finals at eight scattered centers on March 19.

The eight survivors then go to Champaign for the championship rounds March 22-23.

Wealthy Contractor Charlers Plane To Take 72 Relatives to Visit Sweden

CHICAGO (AP) — Ragnar Benson, wealthy Chicago contractor, likes company.

He has arranged to have plenty of it when he visits his native Sweden next spring.

Benson has chartered a Scandinavian Airlines plane and will take 72 relatives with him when he leaves O'Hare International Airport April 14.

The sight-seeing trip will cost Benson about $40,000, an airline spokesman estimated.

Most of his guests on the trip back to his home town of Almhult, Sweden, will be relatives and children of relatives who gave Benson a helping hand when he came to the United States to seek his fortune in 1911.

He was a lad of 11 then, one of a family of 10 farm children. He had been impressed by three free-spending uncles who returned occasionally to Sweden from America.

One of the uncles brought Benson and a sister to the United States. Four years later, Benson started work as a bricklayer's apprentice at $5 a week.

In three years he became a journeyman bricklayer. With $5,000 he saved from his bricklayer's job and from working nights and weekends in a clothing store, Benson launched a concrete contracting business.

Today he's head of Ragnar Benson Inc., a firm of engineers, builders and general contractors which does an estimated $40 million a year business.

The Benson party will land at Malmo, Sweden, about 75 miles from Almhult. Benson will carry a greeting to the mayor of Malmo from Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

The group will return to Chicago May 6.

Spectaculars On Weekly Basis Planned by NBC

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (AP) — The channel swim...

NBC-TV will showcase spectaculars on a weekly basis next season, but won't restrict them to a steady time slot. The network is reserving the right to pre-empt any regularly scheduled show twice during the coming semester.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft, ticketed for a future "Person to Person," were yanked off the show by their lawyer. Relations between CBS-TV and the Lufts are not exactly cordial, because of Miss Garland's pull-out from a spectacular a few weeks back.

ABC-TV is hot for a new Randolph Scott western series... Dinah Shore will wheel and deal 19 times for "The Chevy Show" next season—all of them on Sunday.

Thus far, figures an NBC man, Charles Van Doren has earned $23,833 per hour on "Twenty One."

Danny Thomas hopes to shoot his first six shows for the fall in Europe... the next "Project 20" that NBC-TV will beam your way is a study of the first 20 years of this century, "Age of Innocence." During the past seven weeks, NBC-TV's "The Price is Right" has drawn 4,250,000 pieces of mail, a record pull.

Culture of 800 A. D. Uncovered By Excavations

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Radio-carbon tests have shown that excavations made by the Southern Illinois University Museum in Mexico last summer uncovered a culture prevalent somewhere around 800 A. D.

The diggings were made at the Schroeder site near Durango, Mexico, by a group of SIU faculty and students.

Dr. James B. Griffin, director of the University of Michigan Museum of Anthropology, reported at a conference of anthropologists from Illinois and surrounding states here last week end that tests dated the SIU findings at 200 years before or after 806 A. D.

Griffin discussed recent radio-carbon dates of Meso-American cultures (The high level cultures of Central America and Mexico) at the conference Saturday and Sunday.

J. Charles Kelley, SIU Museum director, says Griffin's report confirms the SIU excavators' estimate of the cultural period uncovered at the Schroeder site last summer. It represents an intermediate period between lower levels of earlier habitation and the later period represented by a pyramid which was partly excavated.

Present for the SIU working conference were anthropologists and archaeologists from the Chicago Natural History Museum, Beloit (Wisc.) College, the State University of Iowa, University of Michigan, Indiana University, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Illinois, and the University of Chicago. Sponsored by the SIU Museum, the conference was concerned with studying the work of SIU in Durango, and the relationship of cultures there to the Meso-American and South-western United States cultures.
